Biggest Homecoming in 41 Years Planned at Teachers College

Thousand Alumni, Former Students Expected Nov. 1

Plans for Weekend Include Parade, Football Game, Crowning of Homecoming Queen and the Reunion of Many Campus Organizations.

Former students and alumni will return to the STC this weekend for the college's first large homecoming in its forty-one year history.

The popular American tradition of returning to the home of one's college days is expected to bring to Maryville some 1,000 persons who at one time were enrolled in the STC.

A Round of Festivities

Present students and faculty have announced plans for the weekend that include a parade, football game, the crowning of a queen and the reunion of many campus organizations.

Homecoming activities actually will get under way with the student body election of a homecoming queen Thursday at the College.

The students will choose a queen from the five co-ed named by the members of the "M" club. The candidates and their classes are: Miss Katherine Espey, Maryville, and Miss Maxine McDermott, Bridgewater, Ia., freshmen; Miss Margaret Curry, Oregon, Mo., and Miss Delores Keown, Gilman City, sophomore; and Miss Sue Philp, Chillicothe, senior.

Where Credit Is Due

The Maryville Daily Forum gratefully acknowledges the assistance rendered by the news staff of The Northwest Missourian, College paper, for the news material in this edition. Under the direction of Miss Violet Hunter, director of The Missourian, many of the articles were written by the College journalism students.

parade will start at Seventh and Market, go south on Market to Third, west on Third to Buchanan, south on Buchanan to Second, east on Second to Main and north on Main to Franklin park.

The judges' stand will be at the corner of Third and Main streets.

To Award Prizes
Flag bearers will lead the parade, followed in order by a specially constructed Bearcat high over the heads of the people, six Barkatzes and six Green and White Peppers, the Queen's float made by the Student Senate of the College, ponies, other organizational floats, bicycles and campus gallopes. Flanking the parade will be clowns.

Prizes will be awarded to first and second place winners in five events: Best float and runnerup; best decorated bicycle and runnerup; best decorated pony and runnerup; best decorated campus gallop and runnerup; and the best characterization and runnerup.

At noon the Association of Childhood Education reunion luncheon will be held at Hotel Linville.

Football Game at 2 p. m.
The football game between the Cape Girardeau Indians and the Maryville Bearcats will start at 2 p. m. at the college stadium. Radio station KRES will broadcast the game with Paul Roscoe doing the announcing. Special seating will be made for various organizations and persons. The queen and her attendants will be on the east side of the field in the special box.

President and Mrs. J. W. Jones will hold open house at their home from 4:30 to 6 p. m.

At 6 p. m. the Barkatzes will have a chili supper at the Hotel Linville. At 6:30 homecoming dinners will be sponsored by the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority at the Country Club, and by the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity at the American Legion building.

Dance in Gymnasium
Climax to the weekend will be the homecoming dance at the gymnasium. Music by Warren Durrett's band, a floor show at intermission, with the Dance Club performing and Albert Fike acting as master of ceremonies, will highlight this activity. Durrett is a former student.

Decorations for the dance have been worked out by the committee on decorations. Since surprise is one of the keys to successful decorating, the only mention made is that the green and white theme will be carried out. Crests of most of the campus organizations will adorn the sides. Tables and chairs will be placed around the floor near the walls. The orchestra will be at the north end on a raised platform.

Tickets for the dance are $1.50 per couple, or $1 per single person. Dr. John Harr of the STC faculty is the faculty chairman of homecoming and Miss Jean Bush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bush of Maryville, is the student chairman.

Women physical education majors will have a reunion coffee hour at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of Miss Winice Ann Carruth at 309 1/2 North Walnut street. Meeting at the same time is the Kappa Omicron Phi, home economics fraternity, in the home management house.

Parade Saturday Morning
Homecomers will move to the business district for the homecoming parade at 10:45 o'clock Saturday morning. Campus organizations will enter floats.

Those in the parade will assemble at 10 a. m. at Franklin park. The

Can't Go Wrong on These Candidates

The five co-ed candidates for the title of homecoming queen smile from the Residence Hall porch as the campaign in their behalf is being conducted on the campus by their friends and fans.

The candidates are, left to right, Miss Delores Keown, Gilman City, Chillicothe; Miss Katherine Espey, Maryville; Miss Margaret Curry, Oregon, Mo.; and Miss Maxine McDermott, Bridgewater, Ia.

The queen will be chosen by a student body election Thursday and will be crowned at the Variety Show in the STC auditorium Friday night.

Refresher Sketches of Returning Alumni

Short refresher sketches of some returning alumni:

Lewis H. Wallace is one of the more illustrious alumni. A graduate with the class of 1931, he makes his home in St. Joseph. He has served as state representative, with an interruption for service in the armed forces. At present he is chairman of appropriations committee of the House of Representatives.

Herman Fischer, a Bearcat gridiron great of the early 30's will be back. An all-round athlete, Fischer participated in football, basketball and baseball. While here, he and his wife will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Norvel Saylor.

Miss Hattie Houp was a graduate with the class of 1943. One of the most popular students on the campus, she was the first student to operate the Bearcat Den. With a home economics major, she received a B. S. in Education degree and is now teaching in the schools of Scranton, Ia.

Harold Hutcheson, former basketball star at the College, is going to be in charge of a professional basketball team in St. Joseph this year.

A graduate of the class of 1946, Hutcheson and his wife and daughter will be on hand for homecoming. Kenneth Simons, who was an instructor in the biology department a few years ago, writes that he will be on hand for homecoming. Mr. Simons left the College to enter the service. He had charge of the education program in the naval district centered in Hawaii. At present he is working with the Veterans' Administration in Kansas City. Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cunningham will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cunningham during Homecoming weekend.

Milton E. Ploghoft, a school administrator in Audubon, Ia., is coming to Homecoming. Mr. Ploghoft has been attending school here the past few summers.

Miss Vida Bernau, who assisted in the physical education department this summer, has sent in her card of attendance. Miss Bernau is teaching in Ottumwa, Ia.

Miss Yvonne (Bonnie) Yeater, a scholarship student who graduated in 1946, will return from Lamoni, Ia., where she is teaching.

Miss Myrtle Lee Burns, last year's editor of the Northwest Missourian,

Dean of Faculty

Dr. M. C. Cunningham, dean of the STC faculty since 1945, became a member of the faculty in 1941 after serving with the state department of education.

Known as "Pete" to both his campus and downtown friends, Cunningham was formerly director of the Horace Mann Laboratory school and was once co-ordinator of the Civilian Pilot training program at the College.

will also be here. Miss Burns is teaching in Everest, Kas.

Bert Cooper, who left his job at the College to act as state director of Business and Administration in Jefferson City, will be here for Homecoming. He will be accompanied by his wife.

Mrs. Strauss Myers, president of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association and a former student of the College, will be here. Mrs. Myers is county superintendent of Clinton county, Missouri.

GREETINGS!

The citizens of Maryville, the Administration, the Faculty, and the Students of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College join in welcoming to the campus all former students and graduates of the College who can possibly arrange to be in Maryville on November first. Homecoming is an opportunity to get together and renew old acquaintances, make new friends, and rejoice in the welfare of the College. Homecoming gives us all a chance to enjoy together a common program. The program provided by the Homecoming Committee is full of interesting events for everyone. The game with the Southwest Missouri State Teachers College promises to be a very important one in the outcome of the conference standing of both teams. The Northwest Missouri Teachers College is eager to win, and will repay the support of all its friends.

This 1947 Homecoming would not be possible without the help and support of many people. The President is proud of the efforts that have been put forth to make Homecoming a success and wishes to express a deep personal gratitude to all who have helped.

J. W. Jones,
President

Home Ec Frat To Observe 25th Anniversary Soon

On December 11, 1947, Alpha chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi will celebrate its 25th anniversary. Each of the alumnae members of the fraternity are being contacted and urged to attend the dinner in observation of Founder's Day. Three national leaders of the fraternity are now connected with Alpha chapter—Miss Hettie M. Anthony, national founder and president emeritus; Miss Mabel Cook, originator of the idea which resulted in the formation of the fraternity and Miss June Cozine, national president.

These three leaders and the active members will welcome the return of all former members to the dinner which will be held on the evening of December 13. The exact time and place to be announced later.

First Greek Society
Kappa Omicron Phi was the first Greek Letter organization on this campus and as such has been influential in forming policies of all Greek letter organizations now on the campus. In the twenty-five years almost 300 girls who have chosen home economics as a major or minor have been initiated into Alpha chapter. At the present time there are seven active members and four pledges were initiated October 27. The prospects are bright for a large number of pledges in the near future.

Since the formation of Alpha chapter the fraternity has grown and progressed by adding chapters at the rate of one a year. These chapters extend from the Atlantic to Pacific and south to the Gulf of Mexico. Members of the Alpha chapter have aided in the installation of many of these chapters including: Beta chapter at Warrensburg, Mo.; Nu chapter at Peru, Neb.; Omicron chapter at Williamsburg, Va.; Lambda chapter at Chickasaw, Okla.; Xi chapter at Delaware, Ohio; Phi chapter at San Antonio, Tex.; and Psi chapter at Springfield, Mo.

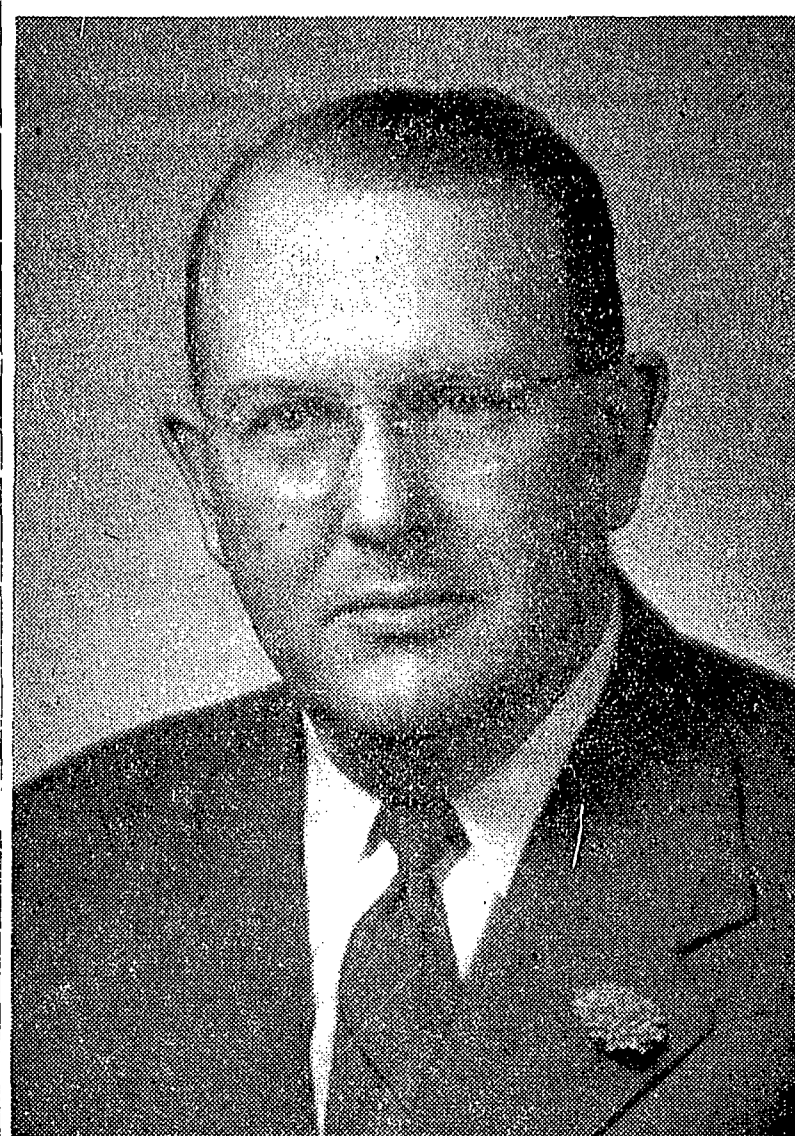

Used High School
An invitation was issued to the public to attend the opening assembly of the school "as some fitting recognition of the importance of the occasion will be shown" according to the 1906 bulletin.

The city high school furnished classrooms for the students, the college building then being under construction. Library work was done at the city Carnegie library but $3,000 had been appropriated for the purchase of books by the school and $500 was set aside for laboratory supplies.

Courses were offered that first year in the fields of pedagogy, English, science, history, economics, mathematics, Latin, drawing, manual training, music and physical culture.

Physical Culture
The United States history course was offered for those "having a good knowledge of the subject but desirous of studying it from the teacher's point of view. Physical culture was offered as "conducive to the best physical health with no thought of developing acrobats or athletes."

A little more than two bushels of present-priced corn, would have paid a student's tuition for a forty-eight day term, which was $8. Students then paid a $2 library fee.

Dr. J. W. Jones, who became president of Northwest Missouri State Teachers College in the fall of 1945, has set forth the function of the college as follows:

"The education of teachers for Northwest Missouri and the education of future citizens of the area."

He emphasizes the importance of three objectives for students: (1) civic competence; (2) preparation for occupation, and (3) personal development.

He has worked steadily toward these objectives since his inauguration Jan. 9, 1946.

When Mama Entered Normal School Her Dresses Were Even Longer

When Mama was a girl and skirt lengths were very much as they are now, only a few brave parents sent their daughters away to school after they had finished their high school work.

To the girls of Northwest Missouri, the creation of a normal school within the district provided them an opportunity to "go away" to school and still remain within their home area. Boys, as well as girls, had a better chance to further their education after Governor Folk created Normal School district No. 5 in March, 1905.

Sixteen faculty members were on hand to welcome and instruct the students who arrived on June 13, 1906, to begin the first session of the newly formed school. Listed among the faculty was George H. Colbert, who with his fifteen co-workers personified to the administration "faculty that are strong in heart as well as mind and body, and who exemplify the most exalted conception of that honorable term 'teacher'."

Anxious parents who had any fears about the wiles of the big city and college life, leading their children astray, were comforted by the fact that "both men and women students will be met at the trains by members of the faculty. If advance notice is given to President Deewester."

More Buildings, More Courses
And so the years rolled by. More students required more buildings and more courses and more courses brought more students. Today the STC has become significant not only in the training of teachers but in providing pre-professional training for persons interested in other fields.

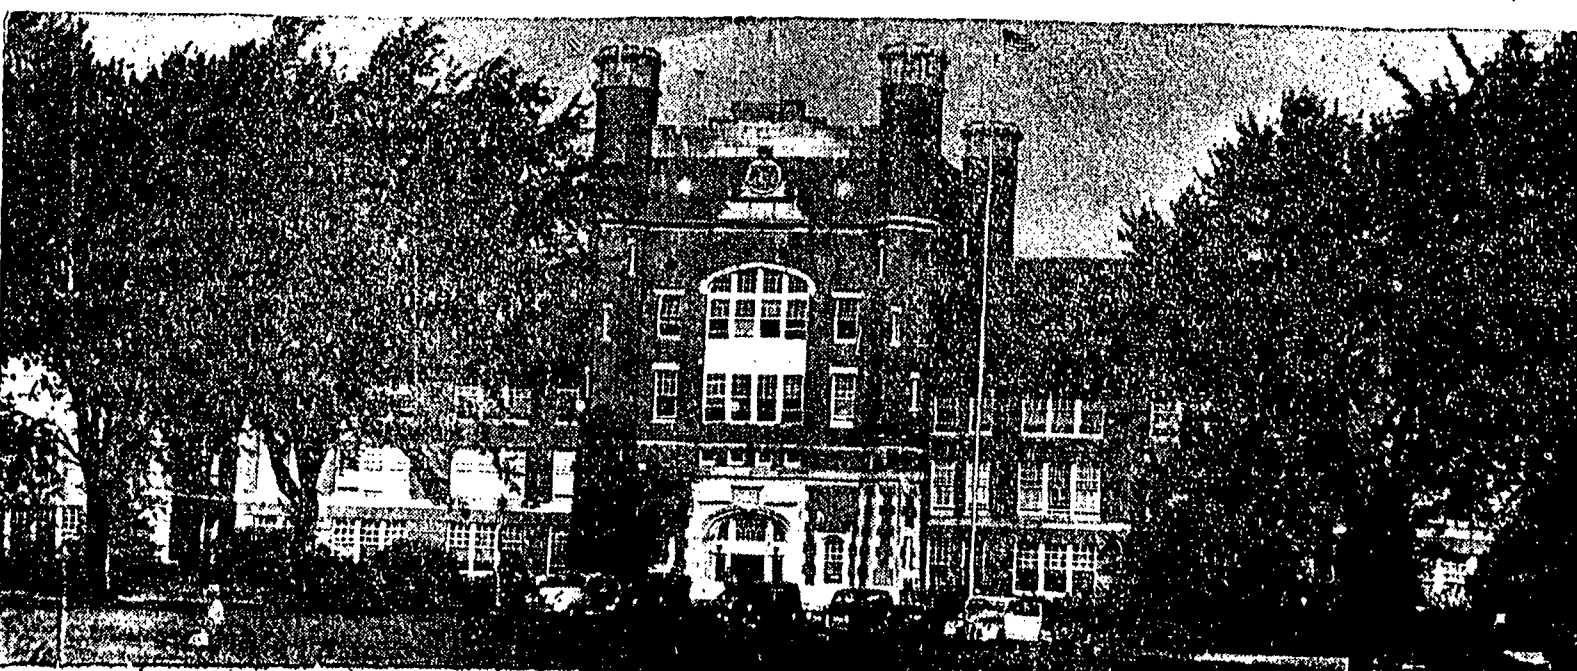

To the many students that will be returning next weekend for homecoming, the Administration building and a few faculty members, now retired but on hand, are all that will be commonly familiar.

New Student from Lyon, France, Arrives on Campus
Newest arrival on the campus of the College is Pierre Sotteau, from Lyon, France. Mr. Sotteau attended the Normal School for Teachers in Lyon, and will be here for one year before returning to his native land to continue his education. He will teach while finishing work toward his degree at the University of Lyon.

First impressions of New York received by Mr. Sotteau were based on comparisons with Paris. Paris is older, of course, and therefore much different. The cosmopolitan atmosphere, architecture, and general appearance of New York City stamp it as the future city of the world in the opinion of the Frenchman.

Maryville, the first small American city or town visited for any length of time by Mr. Sotteau, has been very pleasant to him. He likes the people, and believes that his stay in the city will be thoroughly enjoyed.

School Known At One Time as Normal No. 5

It held its first meeting in St. Joseph on January 11, 1906. Prof. Frank Deerwester of the State Normal School of Warrensburg was chosen president. His executive duties began immediately and he entered upon the task of organization, which progressed rapidly. The faculty was chosen on March 12, 1906. The cornerstone for the Administration Building was laid on October 12, 1907. Ceremonies, witnessed by 10,000, were conducted by the Masons, and Governor Folk was the speaker of the day.

Two-Year Normal
The school began as a two-year normal school. In the beginning, it served mostly students of high school rank, but gradually it achieved a collegiate atmosphere. It became a standard four-year college in June, 1916.

First classes were held in the fall of 1906 in a building donated by the city, located on the campus, and formerly used by the Maryville Seminary. Students and teachers endured the hardships of cramped quarters and scattered classes in buildings all over town until October, 1910, when they moved to the administration building, nearing completion on a campus of 117 acres. Enrollment figures for the first year were approximately 175 students, and the first faculty consisted of fifteen members.

Following Mr. Deerwester as president were Homer Martien Cook, Dr. H. K. Taylor, Dr. Ira Richardson, and Dr. Uel W. Lamkin before the present administrator, Dr. J. W. Jones. Many improvements in the college—in curriculum, plant, personnel, service to students, to state, to nation, to the world, have been brought by these leaders.

Today, besides the Administration Building, the local school includes the Horace Mann Laboratory School, a new library, manual arts building and gymnasium. Residence Hall has been constructed and serves as living quarters for women and five dormitory buildings known as the "Men's Quads," house the men students. A home economics practice house, several acres to the original college farm, barns, a greenhouse, a power plant have been added.

Fully Accredited
Academically, the College today is fully accredited. Its graduates can enter the universities which offer graduate study and find that their degrees are accepted. Three degrees which the College now confers: the A. B., the B. S., and the B. S. in Education. It is approved by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, by the American Association of Teachers Colleges, and by the American Association of University Women.

As its part of the war effort, the STC supported a Navy V-12 unit from the fall of 1943 to the fall of 1945.

Mrs. R. T. Wright Is President of College Alumni

Mrs. R. T. Wright, 933 West Third street, Maryville, is the 1947-48 president of the STC Alumni Association, which has been active in bringing about the College's first big homecoming.

Miss Laura B. Hawkins, 321 West Seventh street, Maryville, is the association treasurer and membership dues may be mailed to her.

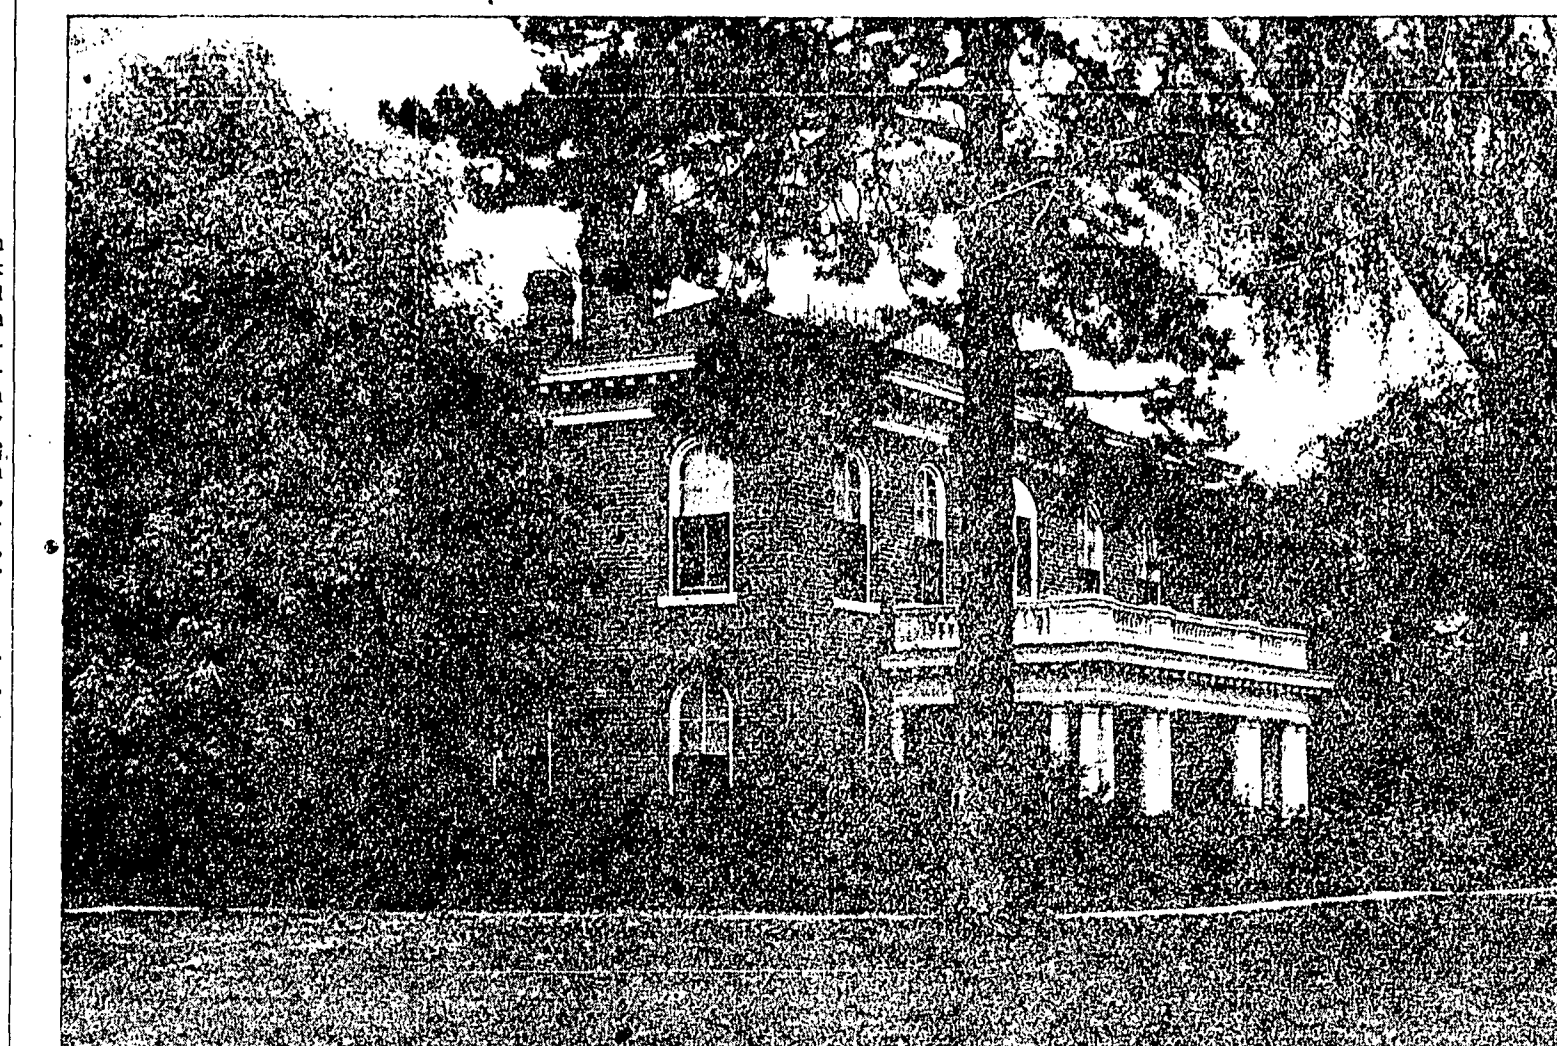

Membership in the association entitles the graduate to receive the Northwest Missourian, college paper and to participate in alumni activities.

Mrs. Wright pointed out that dues are $1 a year or $10 for a lifetime membership. The association's constitution provides for the election of an executive board, the members of which serve three years, with one member being elected each year. The senior member, this year Mrs. Wright, serves as president. Howard Leech of Chillicothe who has already been on the board one year, will be next year's president.

Wilbur Williams of Skidmore was elected the other member of the board this spring.

Time-Saver

To save time at the ironing board learn the trick of being light-handed in dampening or take clothes from the line when there is still a little moisture remaining.

THE HOME OF THE COLLEGE PRESIDENT on the southern edge of the STC campus has often been the scene of student social activities. President and Mrs. J. W. Jones will hold open house to former students and alumni at the residence Saturday afternoon following the homecoming game.

Directly across the drive from the President's home is located a large white frame house now known as the Dean's residence.

Everyone on Campus Is Working To Make Homecoming a Success

Everyone is working. Committee meetings, letters to alumni, everything one can imagine—all point to Homecoming! Homecoming holds a dominant position in everything—Tower, fall quarter, and the students' minds.

Plans were started last spring and since then things are shaping up until it looks as though the College will be overrun with alumni and former students on November 1.

Usually it is taken for granted that big plans must have big hard-working committee members who take much of their valuable time to plan things to make us proud to be Maryville students. But you should know who are on these "unhailied" committees.

Take, for instance, the general liaison and planning committee of which Jean Bush is the only student member—for that matter she is the student chairman of the Homecoming committee. A job like that takes much work. Jean is also vice president of the Tri Sigs and a member of Alpha Psi Omega.

Publicity Committee
On the publicity committee one again finds Jean Bush. Another member is Paul Gates, a senior, from River Grove, Illinois, a physical education major, editor of the Northwest Missourian, football quarterback, co-captain of the football team, corresponding secretary of "M" Club, publicity chairman of Religious Emphasis Week, and a member of the Tower Staff. He spent three years in the Finance Corps of the Army. Bruce Carmichael, from Kellerton, Iowa, is a junior, an industrial arts major, and a mathematics minor. He served three years in the Navy Air Corps. Hurst Hogan, from Bethany, is a physics major, a mathematics minor, a member of SCA and the Independents Club. He served in the Marines in the Pacific area.

Contacting Alumni
Alice White, a sophomore from Cameron, is a Tri Sig and a member of WAA. Her job in writing to alumni is important.

Decorations
Jane Bovard, a sophomore from Maryville, is a commerce major and a social science minor. Betty Johnson, a sophomore from Maryville, is a Spanish-English major, an Alpha Sig, and a Green and White Popper. Lee Dreps, a Spanish major from Barnard, South Dakota, is a sophomore. He is active in Barkatze and the International Relations Club. He spent two years in the Navy. Eddie Reese, a sophomore from Brownington, is a pre-law major, a member of the Inter-frat Council, Barkatze, and Phi Sigs. Voe Oyerly, a junior physical education major from Mound City, is a Tri Sig, member of WAA, Barkatze, president of Residence Hall Council, and secretary of the Junior class. Dorothy Howell, a sophomore from Burlington Junction, is a commerce major, a Delta Sig, a member of CBA and SCA clubs.

Refreshments

is from Skidmore. She is a vocation-al home economics major, a Tri Sig, a Kappa Phi, and a member of the Home Economics Club.

Variety Show

Dick Thomas, a senior from Starfield, is a social science major and a speech minor, a member of Barkatze, Dramatics Club, and is president of the Student Senate. Sam Carpenter, a sophomore from Polk, is an agriculture major, a chemistry minor, and is active in Dramatics, Club and Alpha Psi Omega. Jeanne Bahl, a sophomore from Mound City, is a primary education major, a Tri Sig, Cheerleader, Green and White Popper, secretary of the Residence Hall Council, and a member of ACE.

Queen Contest

Dick Thomas; Norbert Meyer, a senior from Clyde, is a mathematics-physics major and a general science minor.

Parades, Floats, and Prizes

Kathryn Krause, a junior from Maryville, is a commerce major, a member of the Alpha Sigs, Dance Club, and the Green and White Peppers. Marvin Doran, a junior from Maryville, is a commerce major, a social science minor, a Sig Tau, a member of the Newman Club and CBA. Gordon Bixler, sophomore from Geneva, Illinois, is a commerce major, president of Alpha Psi Omega, and a Phi Sig. He served in the Coast Guard during the war.

Selling Schedules and Address Books

Dorothea Adams, a sophomore from Wilcox, is an English major, a member of SCA, Dramatics Club, the Independents Club, and is on the Varsity Villagers Council. Helen Sutton, a senior from St. Joseph, is a music major, secretary of Tri Sigs, member of the Residence Hall Council, Dramatics Club, College Band and Orchestra. Ross E. Johnson, a junior from Stanberry, is a mathematics-music major, vice president of Alpha Psi Omega, a member of the Quad Council, College Band and College Chorus. Mary Garrett, a senior from Maryville, is a biology major and an English-general science minor. She is president of Tri Sigs, is on the Student Senate, and is a member of the Pan Hellenic Council.

It takes people like these—the campus leaders—to make something that is big—even bigger. We can help them if we try. Let's push to make this the best Homecoming the College has ever had.

claves. The members attending vary from the official delegate to the entire chapter. In 1940, one of the college buses was used to transport twenty girls to Williamsburg, to attend the convocation. The girls also visited New York City and Washington D. C. on the way to the convocation. Plans are being made for a large percentage of the present members to attend the tenth convocation to be held during the month of August, 1948, in Indiana, Penn.

Kappa Omicron Phi now holds its regular meetings in the home management house. Prior to the opening of home management house the fraternity held its meetings in the cabin located at the south entrance of College Park.

At the present time one meeting a month is held jointly with the members of the Home Economics Club. Members of Kappa Omicron Phi sponsored the organization of a Home Economics Club on the campus three years ago. These two organizations work together on professional meetings and money making activities. This year a member of both organizations, Marilyn Partidge, is state president of the College Home Economics Clubs of Missouri.

T. H. Cook Friend Of All Students

At Homecoming this year many of the former graduates of M. S. T. C. will look for and inquire about Prof. T. H. Cook, who was truly the students' friend. They will find that he is now retired after thirty-eight years of service in the American history department of the college. They will probably see him, however, for he will be present at the Homecoming activities.

T. H. COOK

Professor Cook came to M. S. T. C. in 1907, when the College wasn't a college at all in the sense that it is thought of today. It had no campus, library, administration building or even a regular meeting place. Says Professor Cook: "The classes usually were held in the old Maryville Methodist Seminary and in the summer they were often held in the Maryville High School."

After the state bought 140 acres of land on the west side of town and built the administration building he watched the campus grow into what is now considered one of the finest in Missouri.

Professor Cook, who was born in Bedford, Ind., on October 9, 1870, began his teaching career in 1890 when he accepted a position in a rural school north of Wilcox. The following year he taught in the grammar school at Quitman and was elected superintendent. In the next nine years he was principal at Skidmore, Clearmont and finally Elmo. He then enrolled in the Stanberry Normal College at Stanberry and graduated with a B. S. degree. Following his graduation, he was offered and accepted a teaching position in the Stanberry Normal. The college building burned, however, and he became acting president of the college in an attempt to hold the students together until another building could be built. When this attempt failed he accepted a position at the Maryville State Normal, the STC was then called.

Under Five Presidents

Professor Cook, who taught under five of the six presidents that the STC has had, believed and taught his students that, "they should please to do right." He also believes that students are interested in getting as much out of their college work as possible. Concerning the subject, American History he says, "I think it is something most students find interesting and enjoyable."

His teaching career was interrupted in July, 1945, when he became ill with an attack of vertigo. Professor Cook is not a person who gives up easily though and concerning his career he says, "I would like to go back to teaching but of course I won't do it."

He is fortunate that both his daughters live in Maryville. Mrs. Inas Wray resides at 549 West First and Miss Maebel Cook, who teaches at Horace Mann Laboratory School, lives with her father at 522 East Third.

Professor Cook does not like to be idle. He is vitally interested in current events and reads extensively. He is also keeping alert in his subject, for he has charge of papers written for American history correspondence courses at the college.

Is Extolled by District Teachers

"Don't you just love a campus with your college?" was a question asked by a new student this fall, who had gone to a city college the previous year. This newcomer to the College was seconded in his appreciation of the beauty of the campus by returning teachers attending the meetings this month. Many of them said that the grounds are more beautiful this fall than they have ever seen them before. What, then, are some of the features that make our campus such a beautiful setting for the College, that both old and new students comment about it?

To the new friend from the city college, the multitude of trees scattered over the campus is one of the most attractive features of his new surroundings. Although he might view a patch of scraggly weeds or grass on his way to school in the city, a tree was a rare thing to behold. And the chances are, that, unless he gets hold of one of Dr. Mueller's diagrams of the plantings on the campus, he will never realize that there are sixty some varieties of trees planted here. They range from the familiar American elms spaced along the long walk and the drives, to a pair of Russian olive trees on the south side of Residence Hall. The white birch trees in front of Residence Hall and the Administration building seem to be the favorites of many students. However, the many kinds of pine and fir trees run a close second, especially when there is a soft breeze whispering through their branches.

Almost every student has claimed some spot on the campus as his own, either a place where he likes to be, or one upon which he likes to gaze. The "long walk" from the Administration building to the President's home, is again claiming admirers as it has for many years past. With its long rows of trees and pleasant atmosphere, it is an ideal strolling path and has been enjoyed by thousands of students. Others would not limit themselves to the long walk but would include the entire broad expanse of lawn and trees in front of the Administration building. The view out across this part of the campus from the third floor of the building is particularly attractive in the winter when a falling snow makes the trees and ground white.

Another traditional spot on the campus is the quaint wooden bridge on the cinder path from Residence Hall to the Gym. It is a relic of the days when there was water in the creek cutting through the campus. The cinder paths themselves are long remembered by students. And no discussion of the campus would be complete without mentioning College Park with its groves of trees and picnic tables and ovens.

The sloping banks of the campus lake with their background of shrubs and flowers leading up to the President's home, are perhaps most beautiful on a clear starlit night when the lights are reflected in the water. Indeed, the whole campus is beautiful, and all students, whether the campus is something new to be explored and treasured, or whether it is a familiar place, join in appreciation of its beauty.

The Junior class had a roller skating party the 20th, at the Rink. A demonstration of dancing on skates was given by Connie Courtney, Bill Hainey, and Richard Ellis. Aside from the presence of a few spills and a few ruined clothes, fun was had by all. The arrangement committee for the party consisted of the class officers. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Phelps chaperoned the affair. Mr. Phelps is the class sponsor.

Shakespeare has certainly been getting a good "going over" in Speech class lately. As a part of the final exam, each student was required to read a part of any selection, and it so happened that Shakespeare was the victim of several members of the class. It's been said that the poor fellow would turn over in his grave, if he could have heard some of the recitations.

The fellows in Boys Home Problems are certainly issuing some tantalizing odors from the Home Ec. department, since they have started

Our representative for the faculty this week is Buford Garner, commerce instructor. Mr. Garner is a graduate of Maryville State Teachers College, and received his M. Ed. degree at the Kansas City University.

He spent two years as a classroom teacher, one year as principal of a school, and six years as Superintendent of Schools in Northwest Missouri. Prior to coming to Maryville, Mr. Garner was with the Vocational Rehabilitation Section of the State Department of Public Schools in the St. Joseph area.

He stated that he liked all kinds of sports, and that sports are his hobby. Mr. Garner is married and has two little girls, one two and one five.

Sterling Surrey, who is chairman of the commerce department at the college, spoke to the General Business class last week. His topic was: "How to Live in the Field of Commerce." The class was very much interested in this subject, since several of them plan to go into that field of work.

Many posters on Colonial Life are being put up in their room by the 7th grade students. Under this topic they are studying pioneer homes, William and Mary College, setting plants in Georgia rice fields, and punishment in colonial days. In their Literature class, they have taken up the "Courtship of Miles Standish".

The 7th grade is planning a Halloween party for next Friday, the 31st. This will be separate from the all school party to be held tonight.

Biology students have about decided that it's practically impossible to kill a fish that doesn't want to be dissected. The girls especially, are having difficulty quieting them in order to study them.

Coach John Pederson took his Hygiene class to the water plant one day last week. They went through the establishment to learn how the city obtains its water.

In the regular assembly Friday, Dr. Clark Ellzey, who was one of the Religious Emphasis week speakers for the college, spoke to us on "Freedom and Its Meaning." After Dr. Ellzey's speech, a pep assembly was held and directed by the cheer leaders. Dr. Ellzey did not think that we were yelling as loud as we might, however, so he took off his coat and held a yell himself.

The P. H. A. meeting Saturday proceeded without mishap, and everyone seems to have had a good time. Registration began at 9:30 in the lower hall of Horace Mann; at 10:30 the program started in the

Traditional Dance
To Be a Feature
Homecoming Night

Homecoming festivities will be highlighted by the traditional Homecoming dance. The formal affair promises one of the finest programs presented in several years. Albert Pike, an alumnus, will be master of ceremonies. Mr. Pike is superintendent of schools at Burlington Junction.

Music will be furnished by Warren Durrett, another former student, and his band. Mr. Durrett and his band have completed a successful summer engagement at Estes Park, Colo., and are now featured at the Sky High Roof of the Continental Hotel in Kansas City. Many former students will remember him as a member of the College dance band.

During the intermission a floor show will be presented by the Dance Club under the sponsorship of Miss Wanda Ann Carruth. The floor show will include a "Dance of Greeting to The Alumni," "Salute to the Beareats," and "A Dedication to All Maryville Graduates." A vocal quartet composed of Bob Tebow, Harold Tarply, Wendell Spoor and James Ward will sing and Miss Claire Wallace and Jack Cook will give a tap dance.

Refreshments will be served under the direction of Miss Eurlia Mullins, manager of the College food units.

The girls were: Kathleen Young, Peg Price, and Mary Jane Kurtz. President Jones then spoke on "The Girl Today, The Woman of Tomorrow." The Horace Mann chapter, as their part of the program installed their new officers. This completed the morning program, and lunch was served at Residence Hall. At the luncheon, Dr. June Cozine and H. R. Dieterich made short talks. The afternoon session began with a Style Show presented by Tarkio with Joyce Jostling as reader. Rock Port gave a panel discussion on "Yesterday's Wardrobe for Today's Fashion." The last number of the day was a skit on "Your Manners Are Showing" given by Hopkins. At 3:00 Maryville High School served as hostesses to a tea in the library, which was the final event of the day.

It is estimated there are more than 70 million church members in the United States.

A Math Teacher
For Many Years

A peppy step and eyes that express a philosophy of goodness will identify their former schoolmaster to many returning STC students and alumni when they meet George H. Colbert in the College halls this weekend.

GEORGE H. COLBERT

Now retired, Mr. Colbert, is the only remaining member of the first faculty of Normal No. 5, the name of the College when it was established in 1906.

Although he has been on a "half-time" schedule since 1934, Mr. Colbert has continued to maintain interest in the College where he was once dean of men and head of the mathematics department.

His Philosophy

His philosophy of kindness and his gentle attitude made his classes enjoyable for students who previously found mathematics dull and difficult.

His first teaching position was in Shenandoah, Ia., in 1888 where he taught for seven years before the college there burned. He then taught in a normal school in Lincoln, Neb., for three years and later returned to Shenandoah. Mr. Colbert joined the faculty of the new normal here in 1906 after being superintendent of schools in Page county, Ia., six years. There were sixteen faculty members and 150 students when the Normal opened.

Modestly, Mr. Colbert says, "This institution has made remarkable progress the last twenty years. Uel W. Lamkin, president emeritus, realized his vision of keeping the school to the front."

Eighty-six years old last week, Mr. Colbert is quite proud of the students to whom he has been professor and advisor. An active member of the First Presbyterian church, Mr. Colbert was formerly superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday School and has served as president of the Men's Forum club.

Proud of Sons

Alumni will remember that you can't know Mr. Colbert without knowing about his sons of whom he is especially proud. One of these three sons, Phillip, followed in his footsteps as a mathematician both here and in the Philippines. He served as a mathematician in both World Wars. The Colbert's youngest son, Ned, is curator of fossil reptiles at the Museum of Natural History, New York City. He teaches geology and paleontology at Columbia University.

"I've enjoyed life and I've enjoyed teaching," the former math teacher said.

"It wasn't a money making proposition but I feel that meeting appreciative students is payment in itself far greater than any monetary return."

New Dramatics Group
Is Organized at College This Year

On the evening of Thursday, September 25, the first meeting of the Alpha Psi Omega was held. This is the new honorary fraternity that has been accepted and installed here at the College. It has as its purpose the advancement of dramatic training for members as an extra-curricular activity. Membership in the fraternity is the ultimate goal of members of the Dramatics Club. Charter members include Mary Clarke, Cairo, Illinois; Sam Carpenter, Bolckow; George MacClellan, Great Barrington, Massachusetts; Betty Hudson, Watson; Jean Bush, Maryville; Richard Thomas, Hemple; Joseph Roach, Maryville; Bill Elam, Maryville; Ann Fay, Westboro; and Verlin Thompson, Barnard.

Plans are being made to give the members a chance to participate in dramas, acting, directing, casting, make-up work, stage managing, or stage construction.

The first business meeting consisted of an election of officers. Mary Clarke was elected cast director; George McClellan, stage manager and publicity manager; and Sam Carpenter, business manager. The constitution was drawn up and voted in; dues and fraternity pins were discussed and decided upon. Mr. Robert Gee, adviser and dramatics instructor, assigned each member of the organization a one act play to produce, direct, and cast. These plays will later be presented to the secondary school audiences in the surrounding area as well as to college audiences.

Plans were made for the production of the three act play, "Playboys of the Western World," and troupes were held. This play will be presented under the combined efforts of the Dramatics Club and the Alpha Psi Omega. Dramatics Club meetings are held every Wednesday at 4 p. m. in Room 103.

College Theater
Features 2 Plays

This year College Theater Week, which will be held November 10-14, will feature two plays. These are the first major theatrical performances to be given at the College since 1939. The two productions to be given are "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde, and "Tartuffe," by Moliere. They will be presented by the National Repertory Theater of New York.

Starring in both productions is William Browder, a veteran performer. His early training included appearances in New York and Minneapolis. Following his discharge from the Naval Reserve, he appeared in New York in "Janie" and "Outrageous Fortune" and took time off from his repertory plans to tour the country with the Theatre Guild-Margaret Webster production of "Othello."

Both Plays Are Comedies

"The Importance of Being Earnest," scheduled for November 10, is a delightful comedy of the English nineties, which provides ample opportunity for the stylized romance of a satiric study of the Victorian social order. It is the story of young Mr. Worthing, who invents a worldly brother in order to leave his country home on frequent occasions to pay suit to a sophisticated London debutante of the period. His plans, however, are upset when a friend of his from London presents himself as this imaginary brother.

The grandeur and elegance of the 17th century France is the setting for the amusing Moliere masterpiece, "Tartuffe," to be given November 11. "Tartuffe," sometimes called "The Impostor" or "The Hypocrite," is a sophisticated comedy of manners. The story deals with the hypocritical Tartuffe, who by his pretended devotion to Heaven, completely captivates the heart, as well as the fortune, of a gullible gentleman, Orgon.

He'll Greet Alumni
During Homecoming

Among the more familiar faces greeting graduates and former students during the homecoming weekend will be the college's first president-emeritus, Uel W. Lamkin.

President of the college for about twenty-five years, Dr. Lamkin carried the name of the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College into national recognition by his own participation in national and international educational organizations.

Beginning his work in the field of education as principal of an elementary school at Clinton, Dr. Lamkin's background included a high school principalship, work in the state superintendent of schools' office, and a county school superintendency.

In 1928, the STC president was chosen president of the National Education Association and in 1935 he was named honorary secretary-general of the World Federation of Education Association.

Upon his retirement in 1945, Dr. Lamkin was given the emeritus title and maintains an office on the first floor of the library building.

Streamlines Program for College Library

A new program designed to streamline and animate the library's role on the campus and in this district's educational program was announced today by Paxton Price, librarian. The library building will house such services as a browsing room, record library and studio, picture loan service, film library, and collections of sample text books and children's literature, all made possible by a new enlarged budget.

The large first floor room at the north end of the library will soon become the browsing room, designed to take the edge off traditional library formalism. This room will include the current magazines and newspapers, along with a rotating collection of novels, plays, essays, and other books of popular interest. All new books of general interest will be on display here first. The decor will include attractive furniture, end and coffee tables, table lamps, wall pictures, floor-length draperies, and indirect lighting equipment.

Near the browsing room will be a record library and studio. On the shelves of the studio will be the master works used by the music department, records to aid such departments as those of speech and social science, and the foreign language records. Four record machines, equipped with earphones, will be installed. This room will also have indirect lighting and comfortable furniture.

Picture Loan Service

Approximately one hundred fine art reproductions by old and modern masters will be processed and framed by the library staff to be lent to students. All pictures are the truest mechanical reproductions that science will permit, thereby making accessible to students those rare works the originals of which are now in private collections and distant museums. The pictures, which represent a large investment of money, will all be the exact size of the original. Some of the pictures will be hung in the lobbies of the quad and the dormitory, and the remainder which are not borrowed by students will be available to members of the faculty for use in classrooms and offices. A picture may be borrowed for a quarter or a year. At the end of that time the borrower may exchange it for another.

Films to Serve District

A film library of educational and recreational 16 mm. films will be built up to aid teachers of Northwest Missouri in class room instruction. The library will eventually include two to three hundred current films covering the various fields of education and phases of instruction. All films will be serviced and repaired at the library. They will be shipped to schools in this district upon request.

Also to serve the teachers of this district will be separate collections of sample text books and children's literature. In the text book collection will be exhibited the copies of all the text books publishers are currently marketing. The collection, which will always include the latest editions, will serve as a guide to teachers of all grades from elementary through high school. A project such as this

He Gets Around

Everett Brown, who jumped from the state department of education to the Teachers College after getting out of the army, is the good-will man of the STC faculty. As director of extension and secretary of the Teachers Association, he does his bit toward furthering the name and fame of Northwest Missouri State Teachers College.

If you don't find him at a convention in Chicago or St. Louis, he'll be found at any of the various towns of the 19 northwest Missouri counties in his position as extension director.

type to help teachers of the district acquaint themselves with the texts used throughout the country has long been desired and will undoubtedly be a great service to all teachers of Northwest Missouri.

Recreational Activities Planned for Winter Quarter

Accent will be on co-recreational activities during the winter quarter, according to H. D. Peterson, recreational sports director at MSTC. Peterson, who was Bearcat line coach during the football season, plans for badminton, ping-pong, swimming, volleyball and dancing for indoor recreation.

A boys' basketball league will be formed and in an effort to balance the program Peterson plans to make use of the cement tennis courts. The court will be flooded for ice skating and music furnished by an outdoor radio attachment.

Expert Advice

VILLANOVA, PA. — (P) — The student custodians of Villanova's new wildcat mascot, Count Villan III, have expert advice in taking care of their frisky feline charge. The Count's diet has been prescribed by Philadelphia Zoo officials.

U. S. farm production for the years 1945 and 1946 was approximately one-third greater than the average of the years 1935-1939.

Horace Mann Had Humble Beginning

The present Horace Mann building with its staff of supervisory teachers is a far advancement from the humble beginnings of the training school on the STC campus.

The early secondary school, termed the "Academy" during the first years of the old Normal school, was an integral part of the college. Frequently high school pupils were enrolled in college classes and received high school credit for their work. When separate classes for high school pupils were organized they were taught by the college faculty. High school classes met in college rooms and laboratories and the high school pupils took part in many of the college activities including the annual "walk out day" and assemblies.

The early elementary school was conducted as a one room rural school with fifteen pupils enrolled in the first eight grades. Prospective rural school teachers were provided student teaching in the college building and non-rural student teachers were assigned to the Maryville Public schools at that time.

As enrollments increased, the demonstration or practice school in the elementary school was changed from rural to urban and in 1927 the school was departmentalized with the following grades and supervisors: Grades one, two and three, Miss Ruth Jean Souter, now Mrs. Clun Price; grades four, five and six, Miss Mary Keith; and grades seven and eight, Miss Dora B. Smith. In 1928, Miss Chloe E. Millikan became supervisor of the primary department, succeeding Miss Souter, who had resigned. The elementary school was located in the west end of the first floor of the College building.

During the latter 1920's the enrollment of the high school had increased to some 120 and more subjects of strictly high school rank were being offered. The number of student teachers had increased and most of the supervision was done by members of the College departments. Later still the high school division was centered on the first floor in the east part of the Administration building.

During the latter part of the 1930's a kindergarten was added to the laboratory school and in the fall of 1938 the nursery school was added. The Horace Mann Laboratory school, located between the Administration building and the gymnasium will be noticed by "old grads" as one of the newer buildings on the STC campus.

Construction of the building was begun in 1937 after the state legislature had provided an appropriation of $250,000. The building, along with the library, was dedicated by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark October 7, 1939 and the school was fully occupied by 1940.

The building now houses the entire laboratory school from the nursery through the twelfth grade in high school. Dr. Clifford Bishop is in his first year as director of the Horace Mann school. Dr. Bishop, also chairman of the department of education, came to the STC this fall from the University of Colorado where he was an instructor in education and a supervisor of student teachers.

Horace Mann Principal Herbert R. Dieterich came to Maryville in 1927 as principal of the Maryville

Cape Girardeau Is Bearcat Foe Homecoming Day

Coach Ryland Milner will send his Bearcat charges against Cape Girardeau's Indians on the Homecoming bill, November 1. The football game will be the Saturday afternoon feature of the homecoming weekend.

Cape, which has not scored a touchdown in three defeats, will be trying to upset the Bearcats and spoil a jubilant weekend for the people of Northwest Missouri. Cape has been weakened by the loss of Coach Abe Stuber, who has moved to Iowa State College at Ames.

Coach Wayne Goddard, new Cape coach, played football under Coach Stuber and was Little All-American in 1937. He has turned in outstanding coaching records at Dexter and Hannibal high schools before moving to Cape. Coach Goddard also served in the United States Navy.

Center, Don "Diz" Anderson, All-MIAA center and Little All-American, second team, has returned to Cape and is playing his usual great game for the Indians. Anderson is six feet tall and weighs 185 pounds. Left Tackle Bill Lee and End Jack Klosterman, players who made the All-MIAA second team, have returned and will see plenty of action in the tussle with the Bearcats.

The Cape starting lineup will average 189 pounds; the Bearcats will average 195 pounds. The backfield average for the team of the Southeast Missouri State Teachers College is 190 pounds. Maryville Bearcats, who lost to the Rolla Miners, are out to avenge last year's loss to the Cape team. The Bearcats dropped a 7-0 count to the Indians at Cape Girardeau. The game was a near upset as Cape was a 20 point favorite.

Coach Milner has been working his boys hard and will have them at top strength for the Cape encounter. Stanley Totoraitis, all-conference end last year, will be playing his last Homecoming game for the Bearcats as will Paul Gates, Harold (Swede) Johnson, Bruce Peters, Jenny Wren, Vernon Weidmaier, Howard Glavin, and Rex Adams. Bobby Boeh, Ken Jones, Frank Cruz, Art Felt, Max Hochenauer, Eddie Morel, Clyde Sweet, Charles Goodwin, Don Hoffman, and other freshmen will be playing their first Homecoming game for Coach Ryland Milner.

The Bearcats have been lucky thus far, getting by their tough scrimmages, as well as football games, without an injury. Fullback Marvin Weed injured his leg in the game with Rolla, but was there charging against Springfield. The probable starting lineups are:

Maryville Bearcats
Ken Jones (175)	LT
Floyd Kland (200)	LG
Harold Johnson (205 or 210)	LT
Dewey Drennen (165)	LG

M Club Is Again Assuming Prominence On College Campus

Any campus organization is history usually being either known or uninteresting, that phase will be discussed with in this article. All that is necessary to state is that the "M" Club is once again assuming its position on the campus. Plans for future operations have been outlined, plans that include a quarterly paper to be sent to all members whose address is in the files of the organization.

In that respect it is desired that all former "M" Club members who know with certainty the addresses of other members contact the club with their information. One good method is to attend the homecoming and drop the information in the special box at the "M" Club room at the gymnasium. If plans have not been made to include the Homecoming game the data may be sent to the president of the organization at the

All former and present members are invited. The only caution is that notice be given at least one day prior to the breakfast. That notice may be written or phoned to Bruce Peters, Veterans Village, Maryville.

Any suggestions will be welcome. Ideas as to contacts with former members, handling of programs, meetings that might be arranged in some large city for an annual reunion, or on any subject will be carefully discussed.

The "M" Club is anxious to serve the school, the community, and is endeavoring to improve and enlarge the relations between "M" Club members and the college.

Local Color Gets Reader Interest

By V. V. GOSLEE
SKIDMORE—When a person starts to write something for the newspaper he must have a definite story to tell. Take the big world correspondents—they are in position to write about world affairs, events and happenings because they are able to get the dope. We small town "would be" writers must have something of local interest that meets the requirements of those who read our notes.

Could I give a discourse on the Marshall Plan? I should say not. What do I know about Russia's place in world affairs? As the late Will Rogers would say "all I know is what I read in the papers." I certainly am not qualified to bring to the reading public national news but there are a variety of things that have local color that I might write about.

"Take Neal Sheehan's 'Forumettes'—interesting reading even when he tells about his own family. Happenings of a personal nature to certain individuals are interesting even though they are strangers to us. Most people like to see their name in the papers, even though they are the brunt of a joke.

Ardent Spoofhound Fans
 Who has been a few of the most ardent rooters for the Spoofhounds the past three or four years? From what I hear and learn M. W. Stauffer, Chet Lyle, Ran Holt and Paul Ward have missed few games either at home or away. Ward has transferred his loyalty to the Bearcats with son Bill on the team. Lyle still gives his moral support to the Spoofhounds even though his boy has graduated and is in school at M. U. Personally I am keeping an eye on the Skidmore high team, as I have a boy who is a junior in school and is trying for the team. He may not make the first team but will play some.

I would nominate Francis O'Riley as the one person who has seen more home games of the Skidmore team than any other. For several years O'Riley has had a son or daughter in the Skidmore school, playing on the basketball or volleyball teams. O'Riley knows his sports, the rules and the good plays and a bad decision by the referee is never missed by him.

Who Gets the Fish?
 Roy Albright, who owns a property and has been living on the Lake of the Ozarks, came to make his home in Skidmore this winter. I asked him if he caught many fish out of the lake, and he replied that he could not catch them. He said that many fishermen came here and got their limit in no time and others never caught anything. I asked the reason and he replied, "you must know where to fish, how to fish, and when to fish. You might know how to fish but not where to fish. You might know where to fish but not know when to fish and around and around, but the guy who knows all three always will get the fish."

Many of the local fishermen are giving the carp fish a go. The carp have been biting but the big ones seem to get away. Not all of them though, as several five to eight pounders have been caught. Several lines have been broken and hooks straightened out by fish too big to handle. Most of the fishing is being done near the railroad bridge, south of town.

Worm Medicine
 Last Sunday morning I was sitting out on the back steps of my house when I saw Homer Aldridge, a neighbor of mine coming down the opposite side of the street. Suddenly he crossed the street and commenced

BRINGS $13,218 AT AUCTION—Mistery, grand champion steer of the American Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City, Mo., was auctioned for $11.50 a pound—second highest bid in Royal history—and brought his owner, 19-year-old Ronald Pansch (left), of Walnut, Ia., a total of $13,218.68. looking intently at the ground. He seemed to be looking for something. I wondered what he had lost. Suddenly he bent over and cut a large green plant and gently laid it aside. He started searching until he found another plant. After cutting a few of the plants he tucked them under his arm and started home. I had been past that particular ground several times and had never noticed any outstanding plants. The first time that I met Homer I asked him what he was gathering and he said that the plants were to feed his hogs. He claimed the seeds from the plant was better than any worm medicine that could be bought, and that it was about the only plant that was about the year that pigs would eat. He never told the name of the plant.

Times have changed...

Times have changed since Great-Uncle Silas cranked up his brass-bound Model "T" to take the eggs to town. Today, young Silas drives a streamlined eight-cylinder job—and probably has more than twice as many eggs to carry, too, because with better breeding, better management and modern feed the average hen now lays 155 eggs per year, and many ATOMS-fed layers produce well over 200 eggs per hen per year!

and Feeds have changed!

Don't be content with old-style egg feeds of Great-Uncle Silas' day... when you can just as well feed your hens Staley EGG ATOMS—the new, modern feed that's especially designed for heavy egg production!

Last spring, poultry raisers indicated a 9-to-1 preference for ATOMS over old-fashioned feeds, judging from Staley's own sky-rocketing sales. If a modern feed like ATOMS makes so much difference in starting chicks... isn't it logical to expect equally thrilling results when you feed Staley EGG ATOMS to your layers? Try EGG ATOMS and see for yourself!
